

IBA Survey

The IBA is currently conducting research on why female lawyers leave the profession, and the barriers that they experience in their career. The survey is targeting practising lawyers (including those in-house), those no longer practising and those who never practised – for instance, they may have completed a law degree but never entered the field. Both men and women are welcome to complete the survey.

The survey can be found here: <http://www.ibanet.org/LPRU/INTERNATIONAL-ATTRITION-AND-RE-ENGAGEMENT-STUDY.aspx>, and takes roughly 15-20 minutes to complete. The secured data will form part of a report, which will address the significant gap in diversity in senior roles in the profession. The report will be launched at the IBA Annual Conference being held this year in October in Sydney, Australia.
